This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

ELECTION 1:

first species of electrically driven compressor powered by a battery (see claim 16) and second species of electrically driven compressor powered by a fuel cell (see claim 17),

ELECTION 2:

first species of expansion valve that is controllable (see claim 22) and second species of expansion valve that is a restrictor (i.e. not controllable, see claim 23),

ELECTION 3:

First species of heat exchanger located in the driver's compartment (see claim 26) and Second species of heat exchanger located in the sleeping space (see claim 27).

To be fully compliant with the above election of species requirement three separate elections will have to be made. The species are independent or distinct because they have mutually exclusive constructions that are a serious burden to search out in the limited time allotted for examination. As well the searches are very different. Fuel cells must be searched in class 429, a search for batteries in different sub-classes. Likewise, the same is true for the different species of expansion devices (searched in different sub-classes in class 62) and heat exchanger locations (searched in different sub-classes in classes 165, class 62 and class 180. Disparate searches are required for each of the species in ELECTION 1 - ELECTION 3.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, at least claims 1 and 15 appear to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to John K. Ford whose telephone number is 571-272-4911. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30.
